

Audino and Razmovska Take Out the Inaugural Whittlesea City Plate

It was an exciting day last Saturday as our centre launched a brand new event which has been run and won by two up and coming stars of the track.

The Whittlesea City Plate is a handicapped event that had the fastest runners from each age group running against each other.

The boys event kicked things off with little Nathaniel Audino from Mill Park/South Morang never headed, winning in a time of 11.74. Storming home for second was Danny Rigby from Epping with Tobenna Obani from Metro coming third. The smile could not be wiped from Nathaniel's face as he received the plate from Mayor Mary Laliou.

The girl's race was next in what is being described as the most thrilling race in 30 years of athletics at the centre. In a blanket finish with 0.7 seconds separating all 10 runners, Jessica Razmovska from Mill Park/South Morang took the plate from Jade Mclay (Metro) and Isla Hasouras (Northern Stars). Jessica was also over the moon as she received her shiny plate from the Whittlesea Mayor. Her winning time was 13.43 and was only 0.02 seconds ahead of 2nd and 0.04 seconds ahead of third!

The special race is set to become a feature event each year at Whittlesea City Little Athletics.
